

Morgan County Historian

Notes

December 3, 2019

Hello All,

I am pleased that we have an excellent program planned and a good turnout anticipated for tonight's meeting of the Morgan County History Partnership.

Here are some of the activities I have been or will be involved in this month.

- The Hendricks County Historian, John Parsons, has contacted me and we are going to have a lunch and chat at the Clayton Café soon. He lives in Belleville. Hendricks County has a fine history museum/center in Danville. I will be looking at how they gather funding and operation of that facility.
- I will be having lunch on the 16th with Jeanette Rooney of the Indiana Historical Society. We have several items on the agenda for that meeting.
- I provided a tour of the Newby Elementary Campus in Mooresville for 3 inquisitive classes of 4th graders from Northwood Elementary in Mooresville. It was fun ... and entertaining.
- I had a tour of Downtown Mooresville with 13 young Girl Scouts in November. They were a lively crowd.
- I am so pleased to see the number and interest of those that have volunteered to serve as speakers in the "Speakers Bureau" for the MPHP. If you are not one of them and would like to be, please give me or Darrell French a shout.

I am looking at having a small cadre of associates in to assist in providing coverage in the various parts of the county. I will provide more information about that in the January notes.

Have a wonderful Holiday Season..

Don Adams
