

Morgan County Historian

Notes

November 5, 2019

Hello All,

I am sorry I am unable to attend our monthly meeting tonight. I am enjoying leading a tour this evening of downtown Mooresville for some Girl Scouts. In missing tonight's meeting however, I believe it beneficial to both the MCHP and my service to the county by providing these monthly written "Notes" now and in the future. They will also be placed on County Historian page of our Morgan County History Partnership Webpage:

morgancountyhistorypartnership.com

There are many roads and trails that we can follow in our journey of enriching our lives and growing the appreciation of our rich heritage. Tonight, I will focus on two:

1. A history speakers bureau: If you have a particular interest and would be willing to share that with a group, please let me know. There are book clubs and quilting clubs and service clubs and classrooms and yes, Girl and Boy scout groups that would enjoy our stories.. Please let me know and I will make it known via our website.
2. Developing a library of oral history. I hope that library of oral history stories might be made available on our website as well. I also will be sharing some methods useful techniques in gathering that history and will place it on our website.

This week I added a very fine link on the MCHP webpage. It is the Mooreville Treasure Trove from the work of Local Historian, William R. Buckley. You can spend many a fine evening browsing the work of Mr. Buckley. It is listed on the webpage under resources.

I am so pleased to see the work of expanding our community exposure to the residents via a museum or Center in Martinsville. ..things are brewing... how good.

Enjoy the meeting and I hope to see you at the December meeting.

Kind regards,

Don Adams
